Committee on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities

Guidelines on periodic reporting to the Committee on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, including under the simplified reporting procedures*

1. The present document contains the revised guidelines for periodic reporting to the Committee, including under the Simplified Reporting Procedure (SRP). The rationale for the adoption of these guidelines and their purpose are:

(a) Current reporting guidelines (CRPD/C/2/3) were adopted in 2009. Since then, many developments have taken place, including: the Committee's consideration of a large number of States parties' initial reports allowing it to expand its understanding about the gaps in the implementation of the Convention; several initiatives at the regional and international level related to baselines, benchmarks and indicators for measuring the implementation of the Convention and most recently, the adoption of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs); and, in 2013 the Committee decided to establish the SRP for periodic reports and since then, has consistently offered States parties this possibility.

(b) The Committee has made efforts to provide guidance to States parties through the development of general comments and guidelines. The present document further provides guidance to States parties, particularly in areas where no general comments have been developed yet.

(c) In addition to States parties, the revised guidelines are meant to assist civil society organizations, organizations of persons with disabilities, independent monitoring mechanisms, national human rights institutions and other stakeholders to engage with the Committee.

(d) These guidelines take into account the diversity of persons with disabilities and are also meant to assist States parties to incorporate the human rights-based approach in their implementation efforts of the SDGs, ensuring that no one is left behind.

(e) Periodic reporting, including under the SRP, entails reporting on: the implementation of the Committee's recommendations included in the previous concluding observations, and on new developments that occurred in the State party. When assessing the implementation of previous recommendations, States parties and other stakeholders are encouraged to provide information on the gaps that prevent rights-holders from exercising their rights and duty-bearers from fulfilling their obligations.

(f) These guidelines should not be understood as an exhaustive list of information to be requested from State parties; rather it is meant to be a pool of guidelines for the Committee to select referring to the situation of each State party. While preparing its Lists of Issues, the Committee will pay particular attention to those guidelines that are most relevant to the specific situation of the State party. The Committee will be guided by the principles of equal treatment of States parties, transparency and objectivity. States parties not reporting under the simplified reporting procedure are encouraged to use these guidelines along the same lines.

(g) Civil society organizations, organizations of persons with disabilities, independent monitoring mechanisms, national human rights institutions and other stakeholders contributing to periodic reporting, including under the SRP, need to bear in mind letters e. and f. above when making their submissions to the Committee.

(h) According to General Assembly Resolution 68/268 (2014), particularly paragraphs 1 and 16, the Committee will set limit on the number of questions included in its Lists of Issues for periodic reports, including under the SRP.

(i) States parties undergoing the preparation of initial reports should use the 2009 guidelines (CRPD/C/2/3).

(j) These guidelines take into account the human rights-based approach to indicators developed by the Office of the High Commissioner for human rights¹ When reporting to the Committee States parties are called upon to provide equal consideration to measures related to the legislative and policy frameworks, the processes in place, and the result and outcomes of these processes.

2. To the extent possible, please provide information disaggregated by sex, age and barriers identified, ethnic origin, urban/rural population and other relevant categories.

Article 1: Purpose

3. Measures to ensure that legislation and policies, particularly those about the conceptualization and the determination of disability status, including the issuance of disability certificates and support schemes for persons with disabilities, are grounded on the human rights-based approach to disability.

4. Steps taken to eliminate the use of derogatory terminology and language concerning persons with disabilities, including medical or charitable terminology, and replace them with terminology and language that is fully respectful of the human rights and dignity of persons with disabilities.

Article 2: Definitions

5. The concepts provided for under article 2 are recognized in laws, regulations, and policies of the State party and are in line with the Convention. Measures adopted to ensure that the incorporation of universal design does not exclude assistive devices for particular groups of persons with disabilities where this is needed.

6. How are the concepts defined in article 2 understood in practice, when implementing the rights enshrined in the Convention, in the public and private sectors?

Article 3: General principles

7. Measures to ensure the effective realization of the principles established in article 3 in all laws, policies and practices adopted by the State party.

Article 4: General obligations

8. Measures adopted to further harmonize bills, legislation, and policies with the Convention, at the federal, national, provincial, state and local levels, including by repealing laws and regulations, amending policies and programmes, and eradicating practices that are discriminatory on the grounds of disability.

9. The legislative, administrative and other measures adopted to implement the rights enshrined in the Convention and to ensure that the protection and promotion of the human rights of persons with disabilities are mainstreamed in all policies and programs, particularly those related to the implementation of SDGs.

10. Measures adopted to eliminate discrimination on the basis of disability by any person, organization or private enterprise.

11. Measures adopted and implemented to promote research, development and standardization of new technologies, including information and communications technologies, based on the concept of “Universal Design” in relation to, among others, goods, services, equipment and facilities, to ensure their availability, the minimum possible adaptation and the least cost to the specific requirements of persons with disabilities.

12. Measures adopted to provide accessible information to persons with disabilities about mobility aids, devices and assistive technologies, including new technologies and software applications, as well as other forms of assistance, support services and facilities.

13. Measures adopted to promote the training of professionals and staff working with persons with disabilities in the rights recognized in the Convention.

14. Measures adopted in the form of concrete action plans and programmes with clear benchmarks, baselines and indicators to ensure the progressive realization to the maximum extent of available resources, and steps taken to refrain from retrogressive measures in the implementation of economic, social and cultural human rights.

15. Disability-related budget – total amount and as a percentage of GDP disaggregated by sex, age, barriers faced, and location (in or outside institutions).

16. Measures adopted, including through funding, to support and enable a diversified range of organisations representing persons with disabilities, including organizations of women with disabilities and organizations of children with disabilities to closely consult with and actively involve them in decision-making process regarding the implementation of the Convention and SDGs. Measures to ensure that their participation is inclusive, accessible and independent.

17. Measures adopted to ensure that the provisions of the Convention extend to all parts of the State party, without any limitation or exceptions, including all political and administrative levels, rural and urban areas, self-governed areas and extraterritorial areas.

Article 5: Equality and non-discrimination

18. Measures to ensure that persons with disabilities are entitled to protection under the law on an equal basis with others.

19. Measures to ensure that existing anti-discrimination legislation includes an explicit prohibition of discrimination on the basis of disability across all sectors and areas of life. Measures to ensure that the anti-discriminatory framework encompasses all forms of discrimination on the basis of impairment, including the denial of reasonable accommodation and discrimination by association to persons with disabilities, perceived disabilities, past and future disabilities, and multiple and intersectional discrimination.

20. Measures to ensure appropriate dissemination and awareness raising about anti-discrimination frameworks, particularly among persons with disabilities and their representative organizations

21. Measures adopted to prevent, investigate and sanction all forms of discrimination against persons with disabilities, and measures to ensure effective, accessible and affordable access to remedies by persons with disabilities

22. Measures adopted to maintain, designate and strengthen independent mechanisms tasked with the investigation and sanction of cases of discrimination against persons with disabilities and to ensure that sanctions are proportional to the seriousness of the offenses.

23. Statistics on the number and percentage of claims of discrimination on the basis of disability, disaggregated by sex, age, barriers identified, and the sector in which discrimination occurred, and information on the number and percentage of cases that resulted in sanctions.

24. Is the denial of reasonable accommodation explicitly recognized as a prohibited form of discrimination in all areas of law, including in non-discrimination legislation? Measures adopted to ensure that “reasonable accommodation” is provided in public and private sectors.

25. Policies and programmes, including affirmative action measures, allocated with sufficient financial and human resources, to achieve the de facto equality of persons with disabilities.

26. Measures to ensure that legal timeframes on pregnancy termination do not discriminate on the basis of disability.

Article 6: Women with disabilities

27. Measures adopted to ensure that gender and disability perspectives are included in legislation and policies, in all areas of life and in all spheres covered by the Convention, and that they effectively address specific risk and marginalization factors.

28. Measures adopted to ensure that a disability perspective is included in gender-based policies and programmes and, conversely, that a gender perspective is included in disability-based policies and programmes

29. Legal measures, including affirmative action measures, aimed at preventing multiple and intersecting forms of discrimination against women and girls with disabilities, to eradicate such discrimination, and to ensure that affected women and girls have an appropriate recourse to justice and redress.

30. Measures adopted, including affirmative action programmes, appropriately resourced, to ensure the full development, advancement and empowerment of women and girls with disabilities.

31. Measures, including affirmative actions, to increase the number of women with disabilities in decision-making bodies.

Article 7: Children with disabilities

32. Measures adopted which are appropriately budgeted to ensure the inclusion of children with disabilities in all areas of life, including family and community life, and community-based programmes and services for children with disabilities.

33. Concrete legislative and administrative measures adopted to prevent the abandonment, neglect and institutionalization of children with disabilities.

34. Efforts to carry out and monitor de-institutionalization and initiatives and ensure that children with disabilities receive appropriate support and care within the community.

35. Concrete measures adopted to raise awareness of the rights of children with disabilities among children with disabilities, their parents and relatives, staff working for and with children and the community at large.

36. Measures adopted to ensure that children with disabilities have access, on an equal basis with others, to community-based programmes and services provided by the public or private sectors.

37. Measures adopted to ensure that the principle of the best interests of the child is integrated in the design, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of legislation and policies concerning children with disabilities.

38. Measures adopted to ensure that children with disabilities can freely express their views on all matters affecting them, that their views are given due weight in accordance with their age and maturity, on an equal basis with other children, as well as age and disability-appropriate measures to support them in this regard.

39. Measures adopted to ensure that children with disabilities and their representative organizations meaningfully participate in decision-making processes concerning them.

Article 8: Awareness-raising

40. Measures, including public awareness campaigns and strategies, adopted to regularly raise awareness in society about the rights and dignity of persons with disabilities, their capabilities, and their contribution to society. Extent to which these strategies are grounded on the human rights-based approach to disability, promote an image of persons with disabilities in line with the Convention, and are implemented in accessible formats and languages.

41. Extent to which persons with disabilities and their representative organizations are involved in the design, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of awareness-raising campaigns and strategies.

42. Steps taken to combat stigma, stereotypes, prejudices, harmful practices, deep-rooted cultural beliefs, negative attitudes, bullying, cyber-bullying, hate crimes, and discriminatory language against persons with disabilities, including those grounded on age, and sex. Mechanisms in place for monitoring and evaluating the effectiveness of the aforementioned measures.

43. Measures adopted to ensure that awareness raising campaigns on persons with disabilities carried out by the private sector, including privately-run media, promote perceptions of persons with disabilities that are fully respectful of their human rights and dignity.

44. Measures adopted to raise awareness and foster, at all levels of the education system, including among all children from an early age, an attitude of respect for the rights of persons with disabilities.

45. Measures adopted to encourage public and private media to portray persons with disabilities in a manner consistent with the human rights-based approach to disability. Measures to encourage media professionals to take account of the diversity of persons with disabilities in their code of ethical conduct and to provide them with appropriate training and awareness-raising opportunities to ensure that the dignity of persons with disabilities is respected by the media.

Article 9: Accessibility

46. Measures, including a national accessibility plan, adopted to eliminate all existing barriers within a reasonable timeframe with effective monitoring and evaluation mechanisms and in close consultation with organizations representing persons with disabilities, including sanctions for non-compliance and the allocation of adequate financial resources. Extent to which accessibility is promoted through public procurement.

47. Measures adopted to ensure that new and existing facilities and services that are provided or open to the public, including by private entities, are:

- (a) Accessible to persons with disabilities;
- (b) Designed according to the principle of universal design;
- (c) And that access to those facilities and services is secured through signage in Braille and in easy to read and understand forms.

48. Legislative and other measures adopted to guarantee to all persons with disabilities, access to inclusive, safe, affordable, sustainable and accessible transport.

49. Measures adopted to ensure that printed and electronic information and communication, as well as information and communication technologies and services that are provided or open to the public, are fully accessible to persons with disabilities; comply with internationally-agreed standards, and that persons with disabilities have affordable access to these services in accessible and usable formats and languages.

50. Proportion of the population that has convenient access to public transport, disaggregated by age group, sex and persons with disabilities.²

51. The average share of the built-up area of cities that is open space for public use for all, disaggregated by age group, sex and persons with disabilities.³

52. Steps taken to promote the continuous training on universal design and accessibility standards for relevant professionals and to evaluate its effectiveness.

² E/CN.3/2016/2/Rev.1, Report of the Inter-Agency and Expert Group on Sustainable Development Goal Indicators, Annex IV, Goal 11, target 11.2, indicator 11.2.1.

³ Ib.id., Goal 11, target 11.7, indicator 11.7.1

53. Measures adopted to provide live assistance and intermediaries, including guides, readers and qualified sign language interpreters, to facilitate accessibility to buildings, services and other facilities open to the public.

Article 10: Right to life

54. Legal and other measures adopted to recognize and protect the right to life of persons with disabilities on an equal basis with others, including that persons with disabilities are not subject to arbitrary deprivation of life.

55. Measures adopted for the early identification, combat and eradication of practices which infringe on the right to life of persons with disabilities such as: neglect, abandonment, concealment, destitution and starvation threatening the life of persons with disabilities, particularly children and adults with disabilities still living in institutions; violent deaths of persons with disabilities, ending of the life of children with disabilities by their parents, and termination or withdrawal of medical treatment without the consent of the person concerned.

56. Legal and other measures adopted to eradicate harmful practices including ritual killings, “mercy killings”, mutilations, trafficking of organs and body parts, infanticide, or intentional killings of persons with disabilities.

57. Measures adopted to promote an understanding that the life of persons with disabilities is of equal value to that of others and eradicate attempts to disseminate ideas that life as a person with disabilities is “not worth living”.

58. Measures to ensure that persons with disabilities are guaranteed, in equality with others, that all decisions regarding medical treatment in life-threatening situations are based on free and informed consent.

Article 11: Situations of risk and humanitarian emergencies

59. Measures adopted to ensure that persons with disabilities and their representative organisations are meaningfully informed of, consulted and actively participate in all steps relating to strategies, plans, and protocols in disaster risk reduction and humanitarian emergencies, including those related to armed conflict and natural hazards, including the design, implementation, monitoring and evaluation, and the conduct of risk assessment as well as the systematic collection of disability disaggregated data and disaster-loss information.

60. Measures adopted to ensure the inclusiveness and accessibility of disaster risk reduction measures and disaster management strategies, as indicated in the Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction 2015-2030⁴, such as risk assessments, collection, availability and dissemination of risk information, investments to enhance the economic, social, health and cultural resilience of persons, needs-assessment, emergency evacuation procedures, multi-hazards, early warning systems, and recovery, rehabilitation and reconstruction strategies and to guarantee that they reach all persons with disabilities in disaster risk and emergency situations, and that they are tailored to the requirements and rights of persons with disabilities and developed in accessible formats and languages.

⁴ The Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction 2015-2030, adopted by the Third UN World Conference on Disaster Risk Reduction in 2015, and endorsed by UN General Assembly Resolution 69/283.

Extent to which these measures take into account the diverse requirements of persons with disabilities, and the application of the principles of universal design.

61. Steps taken to optimise the use of mass media with the aim of providing adequate, accessible and timely information on disaster risk and humanitarian emergencies, including early warning systems, to persons with disabilities, especially persons who are at a higher risk of marginalization.

62. Measures adopted to ensure the protection of the life and safety of persons with disabilities in situations of risk, including among others, through the provision of the necessary assistive devices and accessible mobile applications, accessible shelters, relief and other services and facilities, social support and health services/treatment, and trained rescue teams and accessible communication channels that take into account the diverse requirements of persons with disabilities.

63. Steps taken to ensure that post-emergency rehabilitation, resettlement, reconstruction and rebuilding processes are based on risk assessments inclusive and accessible to persons with disabilities, among others, through the application of universal design and build-back-better principles.

64. Measures adopted to regularly and effectively train civil defence, rescue and emergency personnel, and other relevant humanitarian actors on the inclusion of an age and disability perspective based on human rights and the principle of leaving no one behind in situations of risk and humanitarian emergencies.

Article 12: Equal recognition before the law

65. Steps taken to raise awareness and carry out education campaigns in relation to the equal recognition of all persons with disabilities before the law.

66. Legal measures adopted to explicitly recognize the full legal capacity of persons with disabilities on an equal basis with others, and to repeal legislation which directly or indirectly restricts the full legal capacity of persons with disabilities on the basis of actual or perceived impairment.

67. Steps taken by the State party to ensure that all persons with disabilities enjoy legal capacity on an equal basis with others in all aspects of life, in particular, measures to ensure the equal right of persons with disabilities to maintain their physical and mental integrity, the right to fully participation as citizens, to own or inherit property, to control their own financial affairs and to have equal access to bank loans, mortgages and other forms of financial credit and banking procedures, in both the public and private sectors, and the right not to be arbitrarily deprived of their property.

68. Number of guardianships, interdictions, and/or curatorships issued systems and/or arrangements. How many persons with disabilities have regained legal capacity since ratification of the Convention?

69. Measures, adopted to ensure that persons with disabilities have access to individualized support in the exercise of their legal capacity, that the support fully respects their autonomy, will and preferences, and is provided on the basis of free and informed consent of the person concerned, and when applicable, with due recourse to the “best interpretation of will and preferences” test, in line with General comment No. 1 of the Committee.

70. The existence of safeguards against abuse of supported decision-making systems and/or arrangements which ensure that the support provided respects the rights, autonomy, will and preferences and protects them from undue influence, misconduct, and conflict of interest. Extent to which persons with disabilities have access to remedies against these situations.

Article 13: Access to justice

71. Measures adopted to ensure full, unrestricted, and effective access to justice at all stages of legal proceedings by all persons with disabilities and their effective access to alternative dispute resolution and restorative justice. Information on whether such measures include the development of a national action plan of access to justice.

72. Measures adopted to ensure that all persons with disabilities have access to legal assistance on an equal basis with others.

73. Measures to ensure the availability of procedural and age-appropriate accommodations, throughout legal proceedings to ensure the effective participation of all persons with disabilities in the justice system, whatever the role they find themselves in (for example, as complainants, respondents, witness or member of jury, parties to legal action and defendants).

74. Steps taken to raise awareness and provide accessible information to persons with disabilities, especially persons with disabilities still living in institutions or group homes of any kind, about their right to access to justice, including legal assistance, remedies, redress in the judicial system, alternative dispute resolution, and restorative justice.

75. Measures adopted to ensure the effective training of personnel, including but not limited to lawyers, magistrates, judges, prison staff, sign-language interpreters and the police and penitentiary system, on the rights of persons with disabilities.

Article 14: Liberty and security of the person

76. Measures adopted to repeal any legislation and policies, including mental health laws, legal capacity, and family laws, and to eradicate practices that allow for the deprivation of liberty of any person with disabilities based on an actual or perceived impairment or based on actual or perceived mental capacity, alone or in combination with any other criteria including presumed dangerousness to oneself or others or need for care or treatment.

77. Steps taken to repeal any legislation and policies and to eradicate practices which allow, require, or tolerate involuntary or forced institutionalization, forced treatment, the imposition of restrictions or seclusion of persons with disabilities, particularly persons with psychosocial disabilities. Measures adopted to incorporate into legislation the requirement of free and informed consent by the person concerned as the governing standard for mental health services both inpatient and outpatient, including the choice between receiving inpatient and outpatient services.

78. Measures adopted to ensure that persons with disabilities have access, on an equal basis with others including through the provision of procedural and age-appropriate accommodations, to legal proceedings related to the assessment of the legality of their deprivation of liberty.

79. Measures adopted to ensure that persons with disabilities in all legal proceedings have procedural guarantees on an equal basis with all other persons.

80. Measures adopted to repeal from law any proceedings according to which persons with disabilities are declared “unfit to stand trial”, “unfit to plea”, incapable, or exempt from criminal prosecution and/or responsibility, including those that result in security measures, and/or other forms of deprivation of liberty.

81. Measures to promote the deinstitutionalization of persons with disabilities who have been unlawfully or arbitrarily deprived of their liberty on the basis of actual or perceived impairments, or presumed dangerousness to themselves or others, particularly persons with psychosocial disabilities.

82. Measures in place to ensure that diversion programs for persons with disabilities that have been in contact with the criminal system do not include involuntary or forced medication or treatment.

Article 15: Freedom from torture or cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment

83. Steps taken in law and practice to ensure that no one is subjected to torture or to cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment, including instances of involuntary or forced institutionalization, the use of seclusion or physical, chemical or mechanical restraints, involuntary or forced treatment, forced sterilization and castration, or any other non-consensual medical treatment or measures, corporal punishment, electro-convulsive therapy, and involuntary or excessive drug treatment.

84. Measures adopted to ensure that all medical research, experimentation or treatment, whether in public or private settings, is done with the free, prior, and fully informed consent of persons with disabilities, and to ensure supported decision-making.

85. Measures adopted to ensure that persons with disabilities who are deprived of their liberty have appropriate living conditions, accessibility and reasonable accommodation, as one measure to prevent ill-treatment or torture.

86. Steps taken to have an effective national mechanism for the prevention of torture in place and mandated to monitor all settings in which persons with disabilities may be deprived of their liberty, including homes and all residential facilities. Extent to which the monitoring activities of the national mechanism are gender and age-sensitive.

87. Measures adopted to ensure that acts of ill-treatment or torture are investigated, and where appropriate, perpetrators are prosecuted, and that those subjected to such acts receive fair and adequate compensation, reparation and rehabilitation.

88. Measures adopted to regularly and effectively train personnel working for and with persons with disabilities, including personnel in mental health services and facilities, on the rights of persons with disabilities, including their right to physical and personal integrity. Extent to which training or awareness raising activities on this matter have also reached out to family members, caregivers and the community.

Article 16: Freedom from exploitation, violence and abuse

89. Measures, including policies and programmes, adopted to protect from and respond to all forms of exploitation, violence and abuse of persons with disabilities, taking into account age, sex and impairment. Extent to which disability is mainstreamed in all existing laws, policies, and strategies to these ends and extent to which gender and disability-based violence is addressed.

90. Gender and age-sensitive measures adopted to prevent exploitation, violence or abuse against persons with disabilities, particularly women and children with disabilities and those who are most marginalized, in the public and private spheres, such as accessible awareness-raising, education, and information campaigns, the training of law enforcement and other officials, and the development of social support services and networks.

91. Measures adopted for the early identification of instances of exploitation, violence or abuse against persons with disabilities, the provision of information in accessible formats, assistance and support for persons with disabilities on how to recognize and report such instances, and for ensuring the availability and accessibility of support services to those subjected to exploitation, violence or abuse, including accessible shelters. Extent to which these measures are individualized and are gender and age-sensitive.

92. Measures adopted to effectively investigate, through appropriately resourced and accessible complaint mechanisms, instances of exploitation, violence or abuse against persons with disabilities, and, where appropriate to prosecute perpetrators, and to provide gender and age sensitive physical, cognitive and psychological recovery, rehabilitation and social reintegration services and programmes for those subjected to exploitation, violence or abuse.

93. Proportion of persons who are victims of physical or sexual harassment, by sex, age, disability status and place of occurrence, in the previous 12 months.⁵

94. Measures adopted among family members of persons with disabilities, caregivers, health and other personnel to recognize all forms of exploitation, violence and abuse, to avoid and prevent their occurrence, and to develop protocols on the identification and the referral of persons with disabilities subjected to exploitation and abuse.

95. Measures adopted to ensure that independent monitoring authorities envisaged in article 16, paragraph 3 are established and well-resourced to carry out their mandate.

Article 17: Protecting the integrity of the person

96. Measures adopted to protect the physical and mental integrity of persons with disabilities on an equal basis with others, in particular regarding medical or other treatment without the free and informed consent of the person, including involuntary institutionalization, forced sterilization, and forced abortions, in the case of women and girls with disabilities.

Article 18: Liberty of movement and nationality

97. Measures adopted to ensure that persons with disabilities, on an equal basis with others, have the right to acquire or change a nationality and not to be deprived of it on the basis of impairment, and to exercise their freedom of movement, including their right to choose their place of residence, and to enter their country or leave any country.

98. Measures adopted to eradicate disability-based discrimination in law and practice and to ensure the equal treatment of persons with disabilities in formalities and procedures relating to migration, asylum, the issuance of passports and entry and residence permits.

99. Measures adopted to guarantee that migrants, refugees and asylum seekers with disabilities are provided with the appropriate support and reasonable accommodation in immigration proceedings.

100. Actions taken to guarantee that persons with disabilities living in remote and rural areas, and those who still live in institutional settings, are documented and have identity cards.

101. Measures adopted, to ensure that every new-born child with a disability is registered upon birth and given a name and a nationality. Extent to which the birth registration system is appropriately resourced to ensure the early registration of children with disabilities, particularly children living in remote and rural areas, in situations of internal displacement or living in refugee camps.

102. Measures adopted to inform and support parents of children with disabilities regarding their children's rights to be registered after birth, to acquire a nationality and to know and be cared for by parents.

Article 19: Living independently and being included in the community

103. Legislative measures adopted for the recognition of the right of persons with disabilities, irrespective of age, gender and impairment, to choose their place of residence and with whom they want to live and to have access to social support and security, based on their individual requirements.

104. Measures adopted to ensure that all persons with disabilities maintain their autonomy and self-determination in choosing their place of residence and where and with whom they live, are not obliged to live in a particular living arrangement, and make their own decisions regarding options for inclusive accommodation in the local community.

105. Measures adopted to ensure that persons with disabilities regardless of place of residence have access to a range of in-home, residential and other community support services, including personal assistance, which is controlled and managed by them (independent living schemes) and takes into account their individual requirements and preferences.

106. Measures in place to increase the awareness of persons with disabilities about the availability of support and services to live independently, which are age, gender and impairment-sensitive.

107. Steps taken so that any measures adopted in times of financial crisis do not disproportionately affect persons with disabilities and to prevent that such measures result in a reduction of community-based services and social support to persons with disabilities, thereby reducing their ability to live independently and be included in the community, or exposing them to isolation or segregation.

108. Measures adopted to ensure that mainstream community-based services and facilities provided to the general population, including housing, are accessible, affordable, and available for persons with disabilities, that consider their personal requirements and are gender, age, and impairment sensitive.

109. Measures adopted to include persons with disabilities and their representative organizations in the design, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of policies for the provision of community-based services on an equal basis with others.

110. Deinstitutionalization strategies and plans with baselines, indicators, targets, benchmarks, timeframes and sufficient budget allocations adopted and implemented. Extent to which these strategies and plans are sustainable, integrate the human rights-based approach to disability, ensure that no one is forced to live in or return to institutions of any kind on the basis of their impairment, and fully and meaningfully involve persons with disabilities through their representative organisations in their design and implementation.

111. Steps taken to re-train staff of long-term stay residential institutions prior to their working in community-based services.

112. Data illustrating the efforts and steps carried out to move towards de-institutionalised accommodation and care and individualised personal social security and support within the local community, disaggregated by, among others sex and age. Extent to which persons with disabilities, regardless of place of residence, perceive that they have sufficient ability to choose by themselves and thereby, have control over important choices regarding their daily life.

Article 20: Personal mobility

113. Measures adopted, including through public procurement, to ensure that persons with disabilities have access to necessary personal mobility aids, devices and other assistive technologies and forms of live assistance and intermediaries, that are affordable, of acceptable quality, based on universal design, responsive to individualized requirements and enhance the autonomy of persons with disabilities.

114. Measures adopted to encourage entities that research, develop, design and produce mobility aids, devices and other assistive technologies to consider all aspects of mobility for persons with disabilities.

115. Measures adopted to give training to persons with disabilities, including children, and to specialist staff, on mobility skills.

116. Percentage of the public budget for supporting persons with disabilities to obtain mobility aids, devices and other assistive technologies to provide the ability to carry out spontaneous and independent mobility.

Article 21: Freedom of expression and opinion, and access to information

117. Legislative and other measures adopted to ensure that persons with disabilities exercise their right to freedom of expression and opinion on an equal basis with others, through all forms of communication of their choice.

118. Legislative and other measures adopted to ensure that information provided to the general public is also available to persons with disabilities in accessible formats and technologies appropriate to different kinds of impairments in a timely manner and without additional cost.

119. Legislative and other measures adopted to ensure that private entities providing services to the general public, and mass media providing information, including through the Internet, do so in accessible forms and formats for all persons with disabilities, including by ensuring the use of and compliance with the latest Web Accessibility Initiative (WAI) Standards.

120. Measures adopted to recognise sign language(s) as official language(s); Measures adopted, including budget allocations, to promote: the learning of sign language, the availability of qualified sign language interpreters and the use of sign language in all settings, in particular in education, in the workplace and in community settings.

121. Percentage of public websites which are compliant with the latest Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG).

122. Percentage of first-time (live) broadcasts (hours) and percentage of repeat broadcasts (hours) on public service television channels, private channels, and web platforms that are provided with subtitles/captioning/quality sign language interpretation/quality audio-description.

Article 22: Respect for privacy

123. Measures adopted, to protect the right of all persons with disabilities, to respect for privacy, family life, correspondence and honour and reputation on an equal basis with others, regardless of impairment, gender, age or place of residence or living arrangements.

124. Measures adopted, including appropriate and accessible complaint mechanisms and procedures in case of arbitrary and/or unlawful interference with the right to privacy of persons with disabilities and effective and accessible remedies in cases of violations of the right to privacy.

125. Measures adopted to ensure that service providers, professional caregivers and any other person providing support to persons with disabilities are aware of and properly trained on the right of persons with disabilities to private and family life in order to avoid arbitrary interference and to ensure accountability to a code of ethical conduct.

126. Measures adopted, to protect the privacy of personal data, digitalised data bases and records of persons with disabilities from unlawful and arbitrary interference, including health records and rehabilitation-related information regardless of place of residence.
